FIDELITAS

33.66m (110'5"ft) | 1994

DESCRIPTION

Sailing yacht Fidelitas is number two of the Passepartout series; she's had only two owners throughout her life. She was built to the highest possible standards, boasting an impressive top quality and structure.

Fidelitas can carry five crew in two cabins; one cabin with a double bed usually used for the captain and the other cabin has three single beds. The crew cabins are located in the forepeak of the yacht.

Thanks to the excellent maintenance by her dedicated captain and crew and two owners, she is in impeccable condition. Luxury sailing yacht Fidelitas benefits from yearly service and antifouling; additional recent improvements include renewed air conditioning and new fridges and freezers. In 2014, she received complete service of engine, which included a complete rebuild, followed by completed service of the generators. The rig and mast were completely overhauled, tanks were cleaned and inspected.

Fidelitas is the epitome of a comfortable sailing explorer yacht. Incomparable with any other in this size. She is a tried-and-tested world cruiser, built as an explorer with vast exterior and interior space.

ACCOMMODATION

The timeless interior of Fidelitas was designed by Peter Sijm. It features a classic Dutch style and outstanding teak furniture. Sailing yacht Fidelitas can accommodate eight guests in three cabins, including one master located aft and two guest cabins port and starboard. The guest cabins are identical, sleeping three guests in two single beds and a Pullman, both fitted with en-suite facilities.
