Lady Victoria

The interior of Lady Victoria features Angier mahogany woodwork throughout, including ceiling trim. Much attention was put into inlays of cross fire and fine burlled grains. This creates a truly stunning effect.

LADY VICTORY

26.82m (87'11"ft) | 2004

ACCOMMODATION

The salon features a sofa and 4 chairs, 52" pop-up plasma t.v., ship's entertainment center, burglar alarm and electronically controlled drapes. Forward of the salon is the dining area with a round mahogany table and 8 chairs and a granite topped buffet. The buffet conceals the stairwell to the master stateroom. Continuing forward is the day head and finally the galley/pilothouse. If it weren't on a yacht this galley should have been called "country kitchen". All appliance doors are mahogany paneled and flush mounted into the general woodwork. Forward of the galley is a forward facing raised settee allowing full visibility and then the magnificent full width high tech control area.

The master stateroom is located below decks and has its own private stairway leading to double entry doors. It includes a king sized berth, L shaped settee and large vanity and entertainment center. There are three large cedar lined hanging lockers. The head is huge and includes an over- sized shower, large vanity counter, mahogany framed beveled mirror and lots of dressing room.

There are two VIP staterooms: one forward with an island queen and one to port with an atwartships queen sized berth. Both have plenty of walk around space and over sized en suite heads. The access to these rooms is via the starboard side stairwell from the pilothouse. This lands in a very room foyer from which all three guestrooms are accessed. The third guest stateroom has twin berths and en suite head and shower. All guestrooms have their own entertainment center.

The flybridge can be accessed from the aft deck or from the pilothouse. It has a U shaped settee with dinette table, full bar with 2 permanent mount bar stools, double electric grill, refrigeration and ice maker and a Jacuzzi.

MAINTENANCE HISTORY

Oct. 2008 - Lady Victoria just went through an interior "refresher" with new carpets and many of the soft goods replaced.
